General Comment

Please, seriously reconsider prohibiting the use of Options in IRA accounts. Using (selling) covered calls on equity positions held in my IRA is one of the absolute safest ways of growing my retirement funds. Covered calls are well known as one of the most conservative ways to generate additional income while holding stocks you want to own longer term regardless. If you change the rule as you proposed you will actually be TAKING AWAY the ability to safely grow one's own retirement acct.

Please strongly consider amending the rule as proposed to keep much of the other things in tact, while NOT eliminating this safe and effective method to grow one's IRA account.
